

twixt i and you
for my grandfather

*He lit the candles, on a whim.
Thinking of all he's got.
Then as they grew, lit anew
"I see you" is what he thought For in the heart of what we make What we give and what we take
There is a soul who longs to cross
The space twixt "I" and "You".*